

July 26th update.

- We are still until a conservation mandate and important for the public to continue to conserve through late August or further notice.
- Although the water situation has temporarily stabilized, it will not take much to send us back into a crisis.
- Water in the tank today was 31.6' (33 maximum), but there was some plant work required that will require using some of that reserve.