Creative Process

What is the Creative Process in art? Simply put, the creative process is the way ideas, art, or creative thinking comes about. The first step is Preparation. This is where your ideas are born! This is when you get inspired, allow your imagination to flow, and gather information. Step two is Incubation. Now you gather all your thoughts, inspiration and ideas, and let them process and absorb in your mind. Step three is Illumination. This is often referred to as the "insight" stage of the creative process, you may have a "Eureka" moment, or it may be more of a quiet whisper of direction. Evaluation is the fourth step in the creative process. This is when you put your ideas through the wringer. Test and develop your project or ideas, but stay positive. Not everything works out perfectly the first time you try! The fifth step is Elaboration. This is the stage where you actively create something and bring your idea to life!
